

Drunken wish power The Fellowship to Pebbleton

[This is currently using daggerheart with some variety of home brew systems. Please visit daggerheart.com this to help support daggerheart, And please visit my da page for my home brew stuff. The races and species have been changed for cosmetic story reasons. Now for the warnings: Futa, BigBOOBs, BIGDICK, Inflation, CuM, And et cetera]

Before going to bed they all decided that yeah they should actually bring the Mystic bottle but they need to disguise it. "OK. one I think Kathy should hold it! Because, I have an idea on how we disguise it, we make it a specific item that she needs to use for this quest." Suggested Maya. The group nodded and agreed but disguising an item is not the same as disguising oneself one there's no spell for it second what would they disguise it as? "Maybe a holy stamina potion we got a couple in the church that would work and, I could say it's normally meant for the longer sessions but maybe, I can trick it out for the blessing." They gave a slight nod! Maya and Kate worked on making a disguise they managed to make the Bottle concealed to look like it's supposed to be filling out the centerpiece a little bit that's normally designed to be a handle. And also making sure that they put on a proper god of fertility to make it seem like it makes sense.

That morning after getting all their bags set up along with the other party. "OK, I got the secret emergency potion that I might need to make this ritual work." Kate said carefully placing the 'bottle' Enter itematic being told by Zach and Maya to be loudly stating what her item is so that way there's suspicion would be more focused on what that bottle is without trying to risk testing things out instead. Prisca quickly grabbed the bottle looked at it and then put it back inside the backpack. "Lieve" She said with a great grumble, She was already rode on tip when she was forcing to use the liquid from a dragon goddess of fortune. But now one of those monster, monster Goddess?

As the group made their first walk through the section of a forest!

"So tell us more about your village?" Maya said sparking the conversation while they were navigating through the woods being careful not to trip over any vines & roots. Runhild, Quickly answered while also avoiding roots. "Well we all live on a mountainous area, our highest exports are of course living ores. Technically you could call our village inside a bowl alley. Used to get flooded every year if we didn't put Up that damn recently. Some of us more well endowed had to use ourselves as flirtation devices for the others that weren't." She said slightly squeezing her chest. Everyone was easily avoiding the roots. But being more careful not to bum into any tree roots in the dark canopies did make them take more time.

"Is it just me or is the Forest getting a little darker?" Remarked Pilow. As several of the smaller trees were starting to move it was getting closer to midday now. They all barely dodged swings of branches. As several angry tree roots start to move. "Don't worry ladies I can take care of this morning wood. Get it it's because we're in the morning and it's wooden monsters, I'll get back to my day job of being a guardian." Remarked Maya as she started her first attack, Quickly shifting her right arm into a blade. Cutting the first tree in half not to be outdone Pilow did her actions as well, Having her acts quickly demonstrate its actions as well and doing what it should do best cut down a tree. The third tree looked at its fallen friends and immediately ran it was a youngster Triad which meant they might need to be careful that's an actual citizen but they were far into the woods so maybe that will be classified as possibly running into bandits.

“Ooh yeah what should we do about these bodies?” Remarked Kate as Zach immediately grabbed the bodies with the webbing and started finding Up the corpses. “Well we couldn't salvage the old wagon but maybe we can make a new one later dryad wood is also really good for wagons.” The royal 3 lived a little aghast, riding on dead bodies.

“Yeah we'll just also note to possibly not a big deal after all trees pollinate massively fast.” Maya slightly feeling a little awkward. As a startling loud noise was stirring the befelt. As a giant boulder was thrown in front of them and being all smacked except for Maya who actually just ate through the boulder leaving a whole shape of her body in the boulder itself. “Okay I'm guessing Mamma found out.”

The grumbling tree ant responded she was huge with giant acorns laying around her body large stiff strong oakish skin the fruit boring from her chest was strong and palpable standing with the young tree hiding behind her with grabbling grumbles. “Everyone else good enough for a fight because I am going to have to probably make the first move in my!” As she instantly dodged the swinging of a fist or was that a work club, a wooden battle ax. Drawing her other blade and coating it and Heaping amounts of her 'aura'! Her blade almost struck the giant creature barely missing by a few inches. As Zach tried the web swing back into the fight the treat turned and grabbed Her with The giant tree branch wrapping around the body! As Misty aimed for the eyes and Just in nick of time to stop Zach from giving Get crush. “I don't know my boyyz” Shouted the angry tree. As Pilow falled up with icy set of dives from her ax!

“Thanks for the save mist!” Zach responded pulling out the quill Unleashing a fireball very small wasn't actually a real fireball spell. A tree felt it and wriggled backwards. “After this I'll repay the loss of my two boys he's with more meat on the table, I wonder how your lady's taste I see a couple of you have some nice big juicy racks of meat.” Grumbled the old oak tree. “Quick make sure we cut down on how much fire damage, I need to do we need her wood to make a good wagon.” Maya gave a slight look to Pilow. “I pick what you're reading!” Symu And Miste got back to back! Miste did a swinging bat swing onto a setup pitch of a pyro Soccer ball right at the tree smacking right back knocking the tree backwards! As she fell right onto the blades slicing her in half her bottom half quickly running away living to fight another day one of the perks of the trees!

The group decided to take a quick rest break and allowing Zach to at least make a minor adjustment to cut down on how many of them had to actually move through the woods it wasn't going to be a fast wagon but it would be at least a little bit of a wagon it had to be pulled by at least two of the party members or is that all times and it would require strength check but otherwise it would be a little bit faster. Kathy took the time to tend to everybody's injuries.

It took a little bit longer than expected making it into a long rest zach sending a lot of her webbing in order to make the canopy and bindings now shifting herself back down to a modest a cup and was getting some strange looks from the two new passengers, One of them was busy pulling with Maya. “Well me and Mattie have a couple of bargain deals and with the right curse, I negotiated some free route for me on occasions granted, I still have to 'brew' the rope myself you could say.” Making UA quick lie thankfully Matt wasn't there to make it weak although the two were looking like they would probably have to question how good of a spellcaster Matt is also that meant that map was a curse shifter known as a hermit witch and a really Powerful one as well it takes great skill and mastery in order to cast curses that can alter one's body and give them an extra ability without removing 1 of their standards .

“So it's not stressful for you to make one?” Ask Prisca. “Nope it's actually quite relaxing to give a couple of squeezes, but I don't instantly make it! So I have to actually take time, or if I come across a couple spiders. I can kill them in the steel couple their silks, and I can reload a lot faster you could say.”

As they slowly continued moving throughout the day the next day Zach was now to a starting D up the bindings that were part of the armor. As the other girls started to look a little jealous throughout the day they started their resting and recovering more actions Kate was repairing her armor as well as the other two who were inside the base now. The next day Zach went up to being A G! “Whoa are you going to keep growing?” Remarked Pilow as she was now rotating. “I tend to slow down around the Eyes if Is don't keep effort.” Zach remarked. Again throughout the day nothing really happened after the hump. Zach reaching her H. As the wagon quickly jozzled it was the second to third day in the week as the group noticed a Large bear ready to pounce an attack.

Second battle in the week:

[Bear: D:14TH 9/17:hp7-St2] Runhild, Ran backwards to avoid the first attack from the bear! Then taking the spotlight into the battle. “Time for a little nappy time bear.” With a wave of her hand coupling her chest and a splash of hot warm milk the bear went to sleep. “Now, what?” Marked Prisca as the others with shh. Kate suggested. “Let's have the bear pull us and can we get out of the forest then once we reach the next town we can hire actual horse?” The thing is none of them were considered Rangers the closest thing that they had to a animal teamer was Zach. Who was already slowly pulling out some minor threads barely making a dent in Hoover cleavage.

The strings successfully tied around to make a decent harshness it was amazing that they managed to pull it off for it's all being in one week. “I'll try my hand at persuasion I've used to deal with farmer animals before in practice training.” Runhild said. “I'll help after all I'm here as a priestess to help you.” Remarked Kate placing her guiding hand the fate. “Now come down the thrill calm down calm down.” As they gently woke up the bear it growled whose its teeth gurning, bare like a bear should . Kate gently placing her hands next to the creature and Runhild, Their glowing light of mystical auras is in Persuasion Skills. “I know you're hungry, we can give you some food if you help us get to the nearest town then you can have all the delicious honey, you ever wanted that might be even better tasting than my sweet sleepy milk.”The bear growled and yawned and smiled. As they proceeded to go further throughout the forest now a lot faster and easier with a creature that was known to travel a foresty hills. Within a wagon. {Now I'm just going to skip the rest of the week and now there's going to be only one row for possible encounters during the week yay instead of the entire day}

Zach was not putting on her armor for a while as the start of the next week began they were still in the forest [Small K Cup] Throughout the week they were conversations over a variety of things. Here are some small snippets. “Then Priestess Tyson, Bless the holy dam with the powers of Remcna .Although we are not a deemed too loud to speak the name of the actual goddess.” Prisca responded to a question earlier. Zach trying not to have too much, Started knitting some new armor for everybody just in case some patch slips nothing too fancy just to quickly patch up the armor if necessary to keep her from going too big throughout the week. “So that's your holy symbols?” Pointing to the hand holding a giant eyeball dangling on a necklace remarked Maya. “Yes a lot of our weapons in mystical tools are enchanted by these things.” Remarked Pilow as they were navigating the bear.

Zach was experimenting with the tensile strength of her silk this week to figure out if she should try making new armor with it instead of currently using her old. "Not that much impatting but if I make it too bulky, I won't be able to move as fast." Remarked exact throughout the week as she was slowly attaching the new Silk garments of her new silk ninja armor. It wasn't that much, Compared to her leather armor we're on adding but still durable enough to be equal to it in combat. Although was a lot lighter and easier for her to access her weaponry specially her new builtin.

Week five into the journey they were doing pretty well until it came down to the middle of the week as a pack of wolves finally got up the courage to try to take on a bear. "Don't worry girl we'll keep you nice and safe, we hired a band of adventurers to help fight!" Rudhild Said with a little bit of a path in a calming tone. Zach climbing on top of the wagon pulling out a swirl of Dagger's attached with tiny threads of silk! All five wolves were stabbed with a single dagger they're one for each and there were four bleeding drops of red and one bleeding drop of black the leader Wolf was covered in strange goop. Kate jumped out using her Cock Covered with holy rings and stapled into it, As a javelin spear into the ghostly pale white covered in blacks mold wolf leader the sacred glow killing it as the pure straight through its chest as she landed into the ground with a cringe of pain. "I think, I stabbed rock." Before raising her ax, and taking a throwing action!

"It's going going gone and we might have to get you a new ax." Remarked Maya as she jumped into the fray. Swinging her acid covered Dick, And smacking one of the wolves in the back now the Wolves quickly started to jump into the fray of attacking just because they lost their undead leader doesn't meant they were going to flee just yet! Maya easily adopted the first strike, Meanwhile the one that leaped onto the wagon latching on to Zach's shoulder! Zach giving a bit of a smile! "Nice try but there's a reason why I attach my threads onto each one of my knives!" As all the knives that were stabbed into the other wolves were pulled back except for the one that was in the eye of this one and plunge back through its body before returning back to Zach's ridges. "And that's how you be fencing!"

As the wolf slammed into Kate's armor bouncing off relatively with ease. "Well this is the reason why, I'm Secretly attuned to my ax!" As the ax's blade stopped directly into the Wolf's head. "Seriously!" As the ice ball spiked too straight through pulling the rest of the aX back to Kate's hand with a slight cold. Miste smiling as she jumped into the fray. "You can pay me back, later on tonight how about that?" The three hired customers gagged at the statement. As Zach did a flex with her chest a much bigger web ball than usual came flying out more like a cannon then a tennis ball smacking the wolf instead of cat furring it it just crushed it to death! "Hey that was my kill!" Remarked Maya not even realizing that ball Frightfully was close to her! Quickly Maya rushed over and stabbed her Cock Into the chest of the last remaining wolf as they quickly looted up the bodies The bodies and tossing them into the wagon.

"So we're eating wolf and we're still going to keep moving." We marked Prisca. {Level up not For the guest characters, So everyone's now level three.} Making sure to cook only be 'living' wolves, And feeding some of course to the bear which was very happy. "Harkon, Are you enjoying your nice tea sea wolfy wolfy wolfy wolfy!" Rudhild Said giving her very companion a nice big hug and a new name. The bear smiled and liked it. Meanwhile after eating, Miste and Kate were in the back of the wagon still! Miste Purposely shunned into the 'Pot' Filling it with its dragon 'honey'! As the rigid scales rubbed against the lining, Kate's belly was already kind of swollen!

"Don't mess up the wagon too much, we Ride in it and maybe sleep in there too to night." Maya remarked as Kate's belly was starting to get really big it with a slight giggle. Kate. "Juuuuust bbleeeessinnng! The UUUOUO WWWWaaaagoooon frooom the undead wolf!" Kate's Cum Was lining throughout the back! After the session of quickly cleaning up some of the mess it was Kate's turn to do the second watch. With the firelight flickering in the energy lowing, Kate was studying the corpse in between taking quick glimpses around the area. Depending on traffic it would have been a good two to three weeks ride in a carriage to the cliff side of Moonglow Ridge known for the fact that the ridge would start glowing hang on Nights with strong moonlights.

Zach and Maya Had their fair share of fun as well, Zach licking in between the legs wearing Maya's Dick&Balls Like a hat! There are loud coupling was scaring off a variety of things! Zach's chest being massaged and squeezed but not enough to release more webbing as it was swelling even larger, Now brimming to a I cup, Size her entire waist almost consumed by her massive web silks! By the next morning they were leaving a trail of slime and ooze, Once again the wagon was off.

“It doesn't smell that bad.” Remarked Miste as Prisca was throwing up over the side she's been doing it for about two days straight. “I don't think it's, that I think, I just maybe, I accidentally ate some of the white wolf in my batch.” She said raising herself up. Miste's turn to adjust the bear. “Well considering you guys are probably very attached to the bear now considering you named the bear. we're not going to probably get a horse in the next town but we are probably going to need to get a license to have the bear, be our carriage puller once we start getting onto the roads.” “Pawai It is a pretty good town I'm pretty sure they can give us a license without too much issue. Right, Harkon?” As the bear smiled at Runhild Percolating in the back.

Prisca Was finally starting to feel better although her sense of smell was still a lot heightened. What was us doing a couple blinks in a double take at how big ZaCh's chest was. “M!” Zach gave a slight nod behind her massive melons, thinking the next thing she'll do when she gets to town is start selling off a couple of her loads of silk and buying some supplies for the next round of the run! With Snickers and grins as the days went on Zach was actually slowing down so much more mass needs to be added to make it go up another size.

It was week 8 and a couple of miles was to go before they reached the town but they were starting to see some travelers also around the area. The hustling bustling area almost like a miniature marketplace had sprung up. Zach barely able to dragging herself across. “I'm going to buy us some new supplies and get some information also, sell a couple of loads off my chest.” She said with a bit of grin than she went off around to the marketplace pushing and trying to roll her chest it was so heavy that she was buckling her knees every so often and silk wasn't as light as a liquid milk.

Zach walking up to one of the merchants and bargaining off some old shoulder pads she found a while back take first . “140 gold pieces for both of them.” Said the merchant a crude voice. “Sure thing. But normally you guys, wouldn't be all selling your wares out in the open. Why?” The dwarfish merchant quickly stepped onto the chair and went to eye level with Zach. “Well if you sell me some stuff on the cheap, I can tell you some things while I collect it, and I can't tell you out in the open, Let's just say there's a couple of watchers up here.” signaling to the back of her wagon and brushing her long dwarfish beard. “I'm not gonna go into too many details but I do need to upload a couple of silk so yeah let's go into The back.” She nodded as they went into the back of the wagon.

Meanwhile Symu: “But she's adorable how can you say no?” The pumpish draconian elf girl with rather large bosom said in her dragadishness voice. “Like this noooo. None of you are Rangers I don't trust a bear to be a guardian. Let alone just a carpooling beast She's a burden if it does keep those low lives away.” Runhild responded. “But she so well behaved and we do need a license before we get into the town.” The merchant shook her head again pulsating with rage. “Listen here ladies.”

Miste walked over to a cart bookstore double checking several of her spell books with a bit of smile she went back and picked up some new spells but now she was wanting a bitter sev spells for her combat set. “I specialize in water magic chicken ice any suggestions although I am dabbling in chalpotation gerbil thymemics, I even went back and studied up thanks to a friend on a couple of spells.” Learning the dimension door and revealing spells from Runhild as well. “Well I do have a cantrip of bubble blast. Tail rings of warp reflect?” Responded the store owner really sounding eager about this the monkey was quite interested with her bright white fur. “I could sell you both for about 50 gold each.” Miste was looking a little suspicious of how easy this was negotiating already.

Back with Zach “So that's what the old rats been up to.” The Dravus merchant who has finished collecting the silk squeezing and pumping the chest raise her eyebrow which also raised her beard a little bit. “You know the silvery brothers? I mean those Rat Bitches?” In this sly tone, Zach responded. “Enough for those two rats to be need to be killed, you could say.” “Good good good good good then I'll sell you the best weapons in town for free just long as you tell the city folk and everyone else around that you bought your weapons from good old jar the Franken Frogand Dorgan Degan Dorgat, The 16th mother wasn't very imaginative.” Responded the dwarf pulling out a collection a fine battle axes, 'tail rings', Sword, knives the works. “I'll bring over my other friends and are you serious about making them free.” Dorgat. “For you your friends on the other hand have to spend half price after all I just bought a whole slew of silk from you and I squeeze you a really good and rough. Unless they can sweet tuck my beard round off my chin.”

“Do you have a spare steed license?” Zach swinging across the ceiling a little bit with her 'tail'. “Sure thing wrestling up some fancy horse should be about in a big deal for you.” As Zach's swung out of the wagon and smiled. “Okay then then I'll be right back with my friends that actually used melee weapons I'm not going to bring over the dragelf she uses spells.” Giving a slight nod as she swing over towards back towards the wagon. “Good i'll make sure to keep the road clear for you don't want you get an exhausted before you have your fun times just making sure those rats go to the swirly bakes.”

“Girls why do you look so dumb?” Zach responded when She saw the girls looking sad their negotiations for the license was not very good. “It really didn't help matters when Prisca tried to use the concealed trick on Harkon.” Responded to Symu. All the girls looked a little sad . “Don't worry this weapon merchant says she has a spare license we can get the bear approved although I better not show the bearer then and she's offering to sell some weapons for us, I mean to us!” The girls turned and wondered about this as Zach responded. “And all we have to do is just talk to a couple of my old thieves guild friends of mine in town it shouldn't be that hard, I have a license remember to kill.” Maya raised her eyebrow and smiled the Gelatinous moving here creepier tone as her glowing skin was now even more bright and brilliant. “Ah the silver twins, those rats are in town.”

“What's so wrong with the silver twins? They were so nice to us in the previous town all they asked was for thaw money which was one 142 gold per, Traveler with 200 gold per horse.” Responded Prisca. Symu Turned and looked to the girls. Thankfully it was Kate who even responded on this one. “Country folk.” Maya's response. “As the old leg-- Huh, Once told me girl you'll turn over more drinks when you're the only tavern in town but if you're the only tavern on the road you'll get even more drinks and you'll own the town for sure because of what you built in your name.” Then the higher hands realized it oh. As the group head over to Frogand's Weapons, gadgets, and much more!

Weapon shopping

“Staff, 100. Handaxe 200. Normally for you though it's going to be half price it's because well 15 and 17 we're currently buried in town, because we didn't calculate the math that well. The rest are currently saying to watch the queen do her fighting thus I've sent back home.” Degan, Explained. “Well that explains why you hold a bridge.” We marked Runhild Quickly looking over to the speed license that was a spare. “Also it's a good thing that I could scribble out the old name and put it in the new name on those seed licenses brexit was a good horse but their rules was if you didn't pay properly they all subjects that didn't pay we're going to get stabbed she got stepped, she tasted really good.”

“Can you improve weapons as well as just replace them?” Kate asked uh kindly because when she's kind of not carrying a lot of cash and two she kind of likes her weapons currently. “Depends on certain things underneath a couple names I do have some blessing skills Franken is always very good at blessing.” Kate quickly laced onto the table, Her Dick & Axe. “The ring that I claimed in a competition and the ax is a gift from my parish.” Franken looked at the ax it was in good condition and it's holy descriptions on its hilt were quite refined. The Rings were interlocked in chain style no wonder she didn't bother trying to remove them it would have taken at least two to three hours at tops. “What exactly are you lurking on them proven?” Well the rings did need more strength on damage she thought as they were surprisingly very good for its range it's her ax that she needs better on the aiming with but very few weapons give bonuses to aim. “Maybe you don't need a weapon you need a item accessories can often help someone's skills improve without realizing it.” Pulling out a couple of bracelets to show off.

“Maybe something that will make my aim better then?” “None of these weapons worked on your finesse skills I think you're going to have to decide which one do you want to prioritize the Strength of strength, but the strength of your beauty?” Stated Dorgan. Kate looked over the artifacts in question robes rings there was even a 'helmet' Which had the added effect of being armor. “Well I'm good my mystical study so I'm going to go with them proving my strength how about that helmets of muscle?” “Fine fine choice sure it's only got really the two points of extra armor on it but it could bump up your thresholds a pretty decent amount of total so I wouldn't mind it I will take it for the original price this is way too much for you maybe 80 gold?” She paid for it and she only had 20 goals left.

Miste noticed the group huddling around another cart and decided to join them. “Ah so you must be the prissy, whiskey, Spell Castry. Oh sorry missy wishy busy but my sister is not here to give you cant trips but I do have some armor are you interested in armor?” “Yes and I've already got the can trips from a different seller but thank you, how much?” She said giving accusatory tone to her teammates not realizing no this is just the dwarfs attitude towards spell casters maybe she has a bit more of a attitude about it also we now note know which sister died so it could have been the spellcaster that died? “Well considering your friends have already offered to avenge a couple of my phone friendly members I said I will only sell it half price through the Allies while the main gets it for free but that's only because, I'm taking the silk as collateral.”

She looked at Zach and noticed yeah she had gone down a couple of cup sizes that was a lot of silk. [HH] “And could that silk be used to made some good armor?” Looking for an opportunity. “So you want me to test out some of the silk out on you so that way, I can properly price it later which means, I'll have to whiteness the battle.” Taking a moment to pause. “You know you blue Scales tend to always seem to be the more righteously aligned ones, I'll shake your agreement!” She said walking up and having to jump to smack Tit With a good hard taught.

“Darn it you don't pull out some mystical goofy either.” The dwarf trying to figure out if she had mystical stuff coming out from her chest as well! As the dwarf warned back over towards the cart and pulled out some thread and a strange set of needles. “Do you need some more spellcasting focused stuff I do have a couple of those still left around, While stitch on this armor?” Slowly weaving back and forth the silk into chains making it feel like chain mail only softer and less heavy. Actually it felt so light that she felt like she could stew, back flips in it but she normally can't do.

“Not really I'm pretty good at knowing my spells.” Symu Walked over and saw the hanging jewel case there is a collection of spell rings. “Ah yes those who do not have a spell casting focus is or casting skill pino often used those nicely shiny dining rings to just do a couple of a flinging of pasty pasties.” “Do they have to be on the fingers?” She remarked. “Oh I see what you're going here for woo that's going to be an interesting idea.” As the dwarf finished covering the chest a little bit doing amazingly well each time she had to jump to do the weaving though. “I see what you're getting at here make the choices of the rings first and now I'll see if I can Piercing or what you're thinking of?”

She first looked up for some special spell casting rings and she had a hard time judging which ones could cast what so she then went to her knowledge of holy magic. “Ochlys, Raenys, & Umerus, Gems?” Recognizing three rings that were classified as holy, named after several famous low tier angels. {The Angels from Unicorn Overlord if you're looking for a game reference} “Ah yes those shall be a good choice they are known for their radiant light so that could be helpful.” “Arch you sure it's OK for her to wear those, I mean besides the fact that she's technically a demon.” Pilow responded with a slight worry. Kate stopped for a second and tried to think. “Technically the unicorn is a neutral goddess this of the animal kingdom so all of her gem angels are neutral.” She replied quickly pointing out the gemstones rings. {For you gem nerds or cosplayers Alexandria, Paradot, & Citrine}

“Good and your friend is now all done who let me take a rest break though all that jumping is making me tired.” Responded the dwarf as she slightly lay down she just finished stitching up the skirt being slightly around the hips so she didn't have to jump all the time just 50% of the time as she only reached up to the belly button she was kind of short for a Dwarf for about three feet tall, The average dwarf was about 3.5 to 4 you got to be a really tall dwarf viewer actually 4.5.

Now is Maya's turn to start looking around wondering how her new set would work would she have to put back down her standard weapons or does she build new weapons? After a few key breaths and then pulling out from a satchel on her waist a box of powder and sniffing it in a per nose her eyes parkered and twickered you're underneath their beard. “Who00we, who says puff powder he's going to shorten your life. Okay I think I'm ready like doing some stapling so which ring are you?”

Symu. “Ochlys & Raenys I want size for each hand and the last one.” The dwarf gave a slight wink in case she pulled out the three rings. “Okay then I'll give you 300 for the loud them, I mean you give me 300 you know what I mean. But do you want piercing or ring, ring?” “What's the pros and cons about it?” She said looking at it. “Oh I might as well tell you what the Rings do who knows maybe you might change up your mind depending on the options. Ochlys When using your stamina {Gaining stress} You get stronger or smarter or more flexible basically enhances any ability you want to pick but it can only do one ability when you spend it yeah time and it only for that situation so you can't use it like for big huge test.” She signaled to put this on her right hand showing off the finger in question the ring finger not the other finger.

“Raenys Has the power to call forth the thundering arrows of The storming heavens you can only recharge it once you pray at a unicorn altar. Umerus Using your own stamina again allows you to generate a fiery lasso go to burn and last Lashing the victims.” “Okay now still what's the pros and cons for piercing for ring?” Pointing out the one that can cast thundering arrows for her left hand and she had to remember though not to cast it on right range faults not knowing how many charges and probably thinking there has to be probably some rules about how to charge it. “Well the ring can kind of call the build up that's standard meanwhile the piercing allows for easier release but it will hurt when being attached and it makes it harder to remove if you wish to alter and upgrading a weapon that means more time on maintenance later.”

she turned to look at Kate's Dick, Covered in its interlocking chains and piercings. “Piercings.” As the dwarf quickly pulled out her jewel altering kit. First off sizing out the two fingers for the rings prying the metal and making it slightly thicker grew after reforging it and slipping them on then gesturing to the back of her wagon. “Well sealed in a little bit ladies, I'm going to have to not do things for a while?” “Well either way you are going to have to withstand from actions for a while just one would either make it really hard for you to release in this one you can release in a few days also you wouldn't have problems going to the bathroom ammonia is a good disinfectant but also stings like the Dickens!” “FUIK Zhelkas! That hurts!”

“Oh just rest for a couple of days and you'll be fine.” Remarked the dwarf still now revealing back up the opening thing of her wagon and stepping back outside. Symu Was looking at the location where she picked the tip which was probably even more tender but the gem was now glinting at the point think of the End of it. “Okay now I need you to praise my weapon because I don't know if I can actually upgrade it?” Remarked Maya lore. As she slept Cock onto the table. “Ah so you're the one who has also the other magic check that thief girl has. Are you going to say it was a 'witch' or something else?” “A legendary item inside the dungeon long story.” The dwarf raising her eyebrow which also raised her beard a little bit on one side and she quickly brushed her very long beard that went and covered her entire top half per torso.

“Interesting a short sword, do you store this weapon?” She pulled out the the sword sleeve that she uses which is now starting to see better days. “Ah good old silver oak and it has suffered majors acid damage, I might be able to tweak this, And give you our auxiliary alternate weapon at the same time are you willing for me to experiment?” Maya's Sheath Did look like it needs some new maintenance or be completely replaced and they have so she shrugged. “Well I could use some more range against some opponents seeing as I'm always powering around with people who fight far away and sometimes the enemy runs faster than I can if you know what I mean.” The dwarf looked and then wondered maybe the priestess does cast some range of magic or maybe she's the second frontliner but how is it the monk doesn't become the front liner?

“Let me see what I have in my toolbox and my old blueprints.” As the stepper and old dwarf waddled back taking the sheath. “Also you're lucky you're in level of skills for that that's the second tier item almost burgeoning on to being a third tier.” Maya was slightly mixture of happiness and depressed she's only a rare close to being an ultra rare but still a rare. {Common items are cheer zero and one uncommon items are tier one rare is tier two ultra Rare is tier 3 and legendary is tier 4 have you managed to magically find something that's beyond tier 4 that's called a godly item!} “Come back tomorrow. And since I'm going to be witnessing your handiwork. I'll be probably writing beside you for a while so I'm going to need to take a look at that steed.”

“You know a bear is not the weirdest, thing I've seen pulling a cart. I once knew a guy that had Her cart being pulled by werewolves led by a ghost werewolf.” Remarked the dwarf giving the bear a nice little scratching round the back of the ear.

During the night.

Symu Was doing some light cleaning and also healing tendencies. Zach was surveying the now sleeping caravan of merchants looking over several of the different merchants' weaponries. The dwarf was right a bear wasn't that weird so why was it so hard for them to get a little extra license even the elf that was denying the extra license had a strange steed some creature with giant antlers and it was huge, the antlers were dangling on both sides of its head like a 4 by 4! And it was three times bigger than a cow! {That's a moose! But not any type of moose that's a faye wild moose.} Not to mention with its unique code of fur and scales.

“So I'm going to have to wait a while to figure out, if I can even afford the upgrades?” Maya aside next to, A Green Dragon elf girl who was very well topped severing the area for a variety of different carts. “Uh what do you mean and have you seen any medical cart or a priestess clerk in this collection that is clear?” “If you pay me 500 gold, I could take you to our cleric.” As the horns of the green dragon girl were starting to fade and the scale slowly shifting into a bright pink. “I don't know your cleric that well well and this seems like it's a very intimate thing even for 500 gold which is just so cheap...” Quickly noticing the look on Maya's face she stopped!

“Are you pregnant and which one of them?” Maya said with a deviously evil grin. “Damn it by disguise War off and I think it might have been the holy juice.” Her eyes widened even further with now her slimy eyeballs forming tiny insignificant lights of the gold symbol of the standard currency. “Oh and you don't want people to know that you might have applied your cream downstairs did ya?” Prisca gave a slight nod. “Okay you pay for my weapon and we can say this is no big deal and I know just the cart to ask just to double check.”

As the two start sneaking off towards a cart that was surprisingly one of Maya's very familiar noted thanks to her always being acknowledged with Zach she knew all log Zac's other contacts including Zach's favorite medical bandit nurse . A draconic witch. Of the moon persuasion of course. Kilsy Had beautifully pink scales slightly feathery in nature with shades of bright red and hovering around her Draconic eyes but Elvish face her long pointed ears there's been concealed by her matted hair that her horn sticking out vibrantly polished and curved like a good old fashioned ram.

“What happened to you, Maya last time I saw you you were a flash Bag now you're a slime ball.” She speak in a rather rude tone the red kilsy. “Long story short I kind of reincarnated.” “OK I'm going to have to check and see how old I am again because last time I checked it took about at least a couple months for one of your reincarnations to actually pound out that fast sworn I saw you last week what's it last month maybe it was last month I should really pay attention to things more than my moon calendar because it's still a light whining. So what brings you to my cart and how did you know, I was here is thundery going to take some 'cash' from me again?” “No and my friend here use some holy set of what was the dragon goddesses?”

“Asyn A dragon god a fortune?” The witch adjusted her hat slightly readjusted her very large glasses that she was putting on that were strange. “And how long ago did you use wow really who told you that load of anyhow?” “About 8 weeks ago give a take?” Now being slightly even more worried because wait she's not a god of fortune? “Yeah you're starting to develop a shell not much won't be protected until about three more weeks.” Her eyes widened at that statement. “Okay is this really a god of fortune?” “Well technically yes she's actually the goddess of debt as in you are indebted to a lot of people you should really pray to her to clear some of that excess away or you will spend more of your fortune away.” As her eyes widened even further. “Can you delete the pregnancy?” The witch asked a series of minor questions. “Why did you use the cream in question?” “Apparently me and my group who were also using the cream but didn't have to go that far we're infected with a zombie mold.”

“Ah okay so depends on what's going to happen to your friends if how much they used it but the answer is no unless you want to turn back into a zombie.” Prisca's stop for a second there and Justice dropped her jaw as well as Maya and with her new slimy position that jaw literally sunk to the ground. “Well she might be considering this as her payment but I could commune with the goddess to find out what she considers as the payment for before I try anything to say no.” A quick nod was inquired.

The Red Scales sat down in her cart pulling out several Candles composed of unique red scales wax as well as several other scale colors. Then she signaled Maya to leave the room. "Only the one who must commune with the spirits should be in the room with me too many people and some one might get dragged." Maya went to the door and said "OK Claire do not kill her I need her." As she opened the door and left. "That C***, I hope The Twins do a number on her or when we have to face them." Claire raised her eyebrow. "Ooh thank you for letting me know who to pray for after this ceremony." As all the dragon candles lit revealing several dragon spirits.

Maya sitting outside As a voice whispered behind her ear. "So she finally decided to get checked." Maya turn to see Zach sitting right next to her. "Yeah also Claire hates you still I think. " "Kind of expected it but she hates the Twins more so she's going to probably pray for us. "Yeah her first share of demons she prefers not to mention she likes Symu." Zach nodded. "So should we tell Miste about this?" Maya nodded. "After we killed the Twins, she doesn't need to know her ex was in town." "Cool." Then she started shewing Her away.

The next morning.

"Well I have some good news and some bad news it's going to take me a bit longer to craft your weapon well I can craft you a long range sword out of your shave where it will still work like a sheath maybe about 5 more days, I can do the crafting while going if someone would to control my cart for me?" Remarkd the dwarf and Prisca gave a slight nod. "I think we're good on that and also a friend of mine is offering to pay so I guess it's up to you to decide if she still gets the half bonus or not?" The dwarf slowly walked up to the source risen question looking up and down on the redhead. "Depends on how well she drives." As they walked over and the carts started to move towards the town,

"I take it with bad news." "Either make a life or take three of your own with the blade of your heart she said in order to fulfill your debt since I don't know how to do that last one I'm guessing big bumpers coming." She said with a very sad tone. Maya knew also that the gods were very vague whenever they communicate rarely were they direct even when they were on the side of evil or good let alone a loan shark type of God would probably also be vague splashy one of the Fayrem.

5 days later.

"Ok technically this is an air blade. Creating a swirling wind around the blade gives it currently a close range effect but if you expend some of your own energy it could become a far range weapon." Explained the dwarf handing her the Remodel sleeve of her blade. There were new metal bands carved in with different shapes and runes. "Now this is just a tier one magic blade not that hard for me to craft normally but I also have to still make it hollow enough for you to shove your 'old blade' in if you know what, I mean and it is a little bit longer so you might need to 'grow' into it." Maya smiled as she gave a smite of a grin lashing it back onto her hip and then plunging her Cock Into the blades shave.

"Now for you young lady that will be 140 gold." As Prisca paid up. As she exhaled her chest pulsatingly G cup! The last three days were also under faithful when it came to writing the carts. As the dwarf with her standard horse a big Clydesdale continued slowly moving at a slow and dimering pace surprisingly not freaking out over a bear pulling the cart next to it it was just surprising that something that big of a horse would be calm around unknown predator and then again dwarfish deeds were known to be stubborn.

As they arrived at Pawari village!

Nat Is a silver, Coated rat girl with a dark palette of stealthy robes naturally she is one of the classifications of the we species. Technically known as a WereRat, Wearing a dark mask to cover her face meanwhile sitting next to her was her sister Skim A oracle Of the third eye allowing her to see the future at the cost of memories and knowledge. Wearing her revealing outfits naturally showing off her ready tail as well as her Dick. Both were somehow a bit more modest when it came to their tops even though they were slightly

Passive Skills: These skills are always active

Passive Steal: Stealing hope to turn into fear. When dealing damage to a character!

Steaming reflexes: As stress rises so does the difficulty with each marked stress point raise the difficulty by one as well as the thresholds.

Vermin Seers: Skim

Tier 2 Leader

Censer: Miasma: Close D4+1 (Mgc)

ATK: +3 Wandering mind, Thoughts of grandeur, Poor student +2

Difficulty: 14

Thresholds: 7/14

AC: O O O

HP: O O O O O O

Stress: O O O O O

FEATURES:

Flame Grasp: Make a Spellcast Roll against a target within Melee range. On a success, the target instantly bursts into flames, takes 2d20+3 magic damage, and is temporarily lit On Fire. At the start of your action phase make a reaction roll :12< You have successfully rolled off the fire if you fail roll 2D sixes and then take that as your damage at the start of your turn.

Armour of RedPox: Spend a fear: Recover armor slot.

Battle Hunger: Give a minion thief battle rage spending three fear for extra spotlight!

Hinchman from the shadows: Spend three fear take spotlight summon 3 Jagged knife lackeys.

Bandits: 2 Jagged knife sniper: 3 health 2 stress D:13, Atk:-1 Short bow far 1D 10 +2 physical damage. {And thresholds like a paper bag 4/7} They're only a unique feature is passively when attacking from stealth they get a plus four instead of a plus two on their attacks damage]

On the back.

Vermin Turntails: Hp2/Big rat.

Tier 1 hoard

Melee Steel Dagger Dam: D8 (phy)

ATK: +5

Difficulty: 10

Thresholds: 5/11

HP: O O O O

Stress: O O

FEATURES:

hoard [Passive]: It costs one fear to activate two units within one's block they can target one character in attack twice in a single spotlight.

Recouping wave: Stress This brings back one set of units that isn't the same one.

Rat Ogre

Tier 2 Bruiser

Melee Ratclaw Dam: D8+2 (phy)

ATK: +5

Difficulty: 10

getting back up to her feet and now sent right into the water luckily the river was in its low tides scenario!

Nat & His rat master teammate pulled out a strange glowing stone and all of a sudden a giant rat covered in fire and flames came popping out as they jumped onto it! Diving directly into Maya.,”Oh Nat you always wanted to do HandJobs on me!” As her gelatinous armor caught the dagger slamming into her chest the arrow bouncing off of her shoulder. “What the hel--!” Before she could finish her sentence though the air came rushing out of her throat as slash marks pulsated throughout her body!

The dwarf now moving her cart slightly farther away pulled out a bag of crumbled up seeds sitting next to her forge so it's still slightly warm as she popped a couple of seeds into her mouth and they were percolating getting fat and fluffy. “Taste even better when they're fluffy and cooked I wonder what should I call this munch new concoction of this roasted week from the fields that are on these large stocks I know, I'll call it pop wheat!”

Kate climbed out of the water grumpy and enraged Leaping to jump at the Ork rat with her ax blazing and slammed right next to the ground missing! But the helmet enhancing her strength caused the peace of the sidewalk bricking to fly off smacking the OgRat direct in the head! Churning with a “AADADR!” Slamming right into her dress is another fist now some of the fabric getting torn! She responded with “Beh Lem!” Symu Using her churchly knowledge crafted a ball of pure sunlight within her hands and then picked it with her foot! As the flames burn away part of its skin revealing skeletal bone and yet it still moves!

Zach firing some webbing from her chest bounding and wrapping up the priestess rat with a devious smile and a shout “Get up here!” As the rat priestess was sunk into the air instantly Mist swirls her arms and made a pushing air blast knocking the rat back off the roof onto the floor with a loud crash! “Well at least the bindings are still on.” Zach remarked as this was not part of her plan!

Nat Signaled the rat master As she swirled pulled into a spinning three stab just as the flames behind her swirled out from the mouth of the giant fire breathing rat the flames swirled and instantly burned away the rest of the ogre rat while blasting off the rest of the clothing think minus the helmet the helmet survived Kate as she was hit with the blazing fire, Breath of the cinder rat it's flaming quills on its backside slowly dying down! “Oh you're going to pay for that!” Remarked Maya as the medal was slowly starting to be dissolved within her flesh! As the two warrior women retaliated with their own strikes against the 2 rats!

Nat Felt the swirling blade slide riding piercing straight through the armor as it shattered revealing all the cloak being once covering up that beautiful silver fur now covered in black and mold loading grime and dust in blood in dark black which is not a good sign! “Really showing off that you wear your protection during this battle!” Meanwhile Kate's ax slash was so strong it went clear through the giant rat and slammed into the chest of the summoner who is still alive from that! “My baby Girl you killed it!” Said the rat staring directly at the angry and furious Naked, Kate!

Skim Left hand was bursting to flames as she ripped off the webbing! “Ohh geez I was just going to cut you out I guess not!” As the two blades diving off the roof charging The slash cut through the robes like a hot knife through butter revealing that while the white and pinkish robes were on the rat's body her once silver fur now was deftly blackened with mold and blackened blood. “You stripping Rat!” “Excuse me, you're the rat, I'm a human!” As Zach noticed the hand was slowly swirling with more fire but the rat looked surprised as that leaped as a swirling ball of flames engulfed the rat! But not fast enough to completely get out of the fiery blaze zach rolling completely naked meanwhile the seer was now just a skeleton!

“Sister noOOOO!” Nate shouted with rage and anger Leaving open for a quick attack as the creature ran past Maya Using the after win trail we'll to slice and dice but the enrage rat didn't care as she leaped to attack one that is still sitting on the roof using her tail and the other two steps to do the naked Zach in the back, Unfortunately for the rage rat the 2 easily spotted the attack Zach dodging the attack, And Miste wasn't even going to be hit because the giant rooftop. Zach quickly swirling her blades and missing meanwhile Miste was charging up for her next attack using her new cantrip which has the ability to charge so long as she holds Or attack for her next time she takes the spotlight!

Meanwhile Kate still fueled with battle rage, Pushing her Ax further in with her foot! As the ax blade went straight through the body the blood pulling this was actually bright red! “Who else wants some!” The Archer already started to flee as well as several of the turn rats it's not worth their job to die for these people they already got good enough coin they can flee for a while. Symu Walked over slightly looking at the group of corpses and said. “I think they got this let's see what Mr Beastmaster has.” Starting to look through what was left of the tattered uniform.

Maya took the charge and started swinging her blade again unleashing more winding slashes she's at Nat, Now leaking more black blood upon the ground fracking with rage! “Say hello to your sister and mother for me!” Zach said turning, The two blades, But the rat dodged the two blades just as they were striking down and using her tail her actual rat tail that is to go for a quick stab in the back! “You say hi instead!” Using her tail the throw zack into the wall, she was actually aiming for Miste but again not able to actually throw Zach farther they're up the wall! Misty standing overhead barely being on to the roof shouted “Stay away from her you BITCH!” As the bubble blasted from her hand slammed right into the face of Nat and dead! “Ok, thanks for the save we are resting today.” Marking Zach as the contributors to their actual adventure just arrived back with the bear seeing the scene.

“Dorrigan this is so worth it i'm just going to pay for your night at the Inn, Drinks are on me we are all partying that includes the villagers that are still alive in this town!” Shall the dwarf in a blistering tone the mayor tiny little thing in the fairy came out and cheered as well and said” Yay you can pay for the damages that were barely anything!”

Long rest well earned:

As the group were sitting in the tavern drinks and speeches Prisca {Purposely drinking something that's good for a dragon} asked Maya how does she know Zach and all of his crew? “Oh Zach and I were technically part of the same bandit group known as the Wild Rats led by the Silver Twins mother to be exact we killed her in her sleep in vengeance, Claire helped us a lot.” She turned and looked. “This wasn't the first time the silver twins took over a village of course that was when they were led by their mother who took over my village if it wasn't for Zach helping me out with the vengeance plan I would be having Zach on my death list too.” Then she turned to look at Zach, who's not that old so obviously this was a very young storyline or maybe this was a very early storyline for them in their career.

The fairy mayor placed on top of Zach a beautiful black cloak robe that didn't do anything really uncovering Zach but it was nice. It was meant for fairy so it was not that big but slowly stretched a little bit to cover a little bit more. “Consider this a thank you gift ,For reading of us those vile villains I'll tell you the secrets of this glorious robe later it's been in my family for generation.” Said the fairy with a big wink and showing off that she has her entire body completely consumed by her chest and if it wasn't for her flying her height would be equal to the length of a 'blade.' “I see, I will gladly take that offer madam mayor!” Meanwhile Kate was given a spare Mystic robe from the local church of the unicorn.

"I'm sorry madam but the weapon kinner be recharged just yet this mystic ring is enchanted to only be charged within its laughs breathe of life you have exactly 24 hours before you can worry about it just instantly shattering, I mean once you use all of its charges within its stone and then you can charge it." Exclaimed the old priestess is sitting next to our demon monk. "I see, well I guess, I'll just have to be very careful. When I use that spell on the road, as in probably never!" "But if you are training in mystical skills even though this is unusual for a monk give your status, I do have a spell that could come in handy for you young lady. And it's not off the order of the unicorn." The old lady looked back and forth. "Thank you, no offense but you are sad too old for me." The old lady chuckled. "No but you do remind me of some one that I once spent a lovely night with myself back when I was much of a younger lady, She was a young and handsome Woman. End page for a good backup if you know what I mean never had a cash it in though." Gesturing to the nun who was giving a new robe to Kate!

"Really!" Noting this was the second thing that was closest enough to get close to finding out who her father was a copy of his old spell book was laying in her back pocket the only things that allowed her to cast spells. Filling excitement she didn't think she was going to find her Clues this day but she did. Not to mention a half sister. Symu Got up grabbing her drink and walked over to talk to the, possible half sister the smiling grin.

Miste saying "thank you, Runhild, Your dimension door spell really helped." "Not as much as that usage of your fireball although you're more of a water mage how come your pick is fire you're for that one?" "Water is composed of two very flammable gasses but it's surprisingly not flattable so all you have to do is just remove one of those combining molecules and it gets very begging combusting just like how my chest is." She said with a frinklish tone of flirtation. "Yeah, prissy explained to us what happened." "All you mean Prisca and what do you mean explained what happened?" "That she's carrying a dragon goddess bun in the oven because you didn't mention that the goddess was Paying your debts." Miste's eyes widened noticed oh yeah she was looking a lot bigger around the chest and the belly was starting to show. "HOOO, She's Going to feel that in the morning and the afternoon and then some."

Later on that night.

Zach & Mayor Jamie Greyglow. Clothes were resting on the side of her lavish mayor's office. "The twilight robe allows you to generate small Amounts of darkness." Jamie said pushing Zach onto the couch they're bustling Booby Squeezing Rippling there insect like nips together the gigantic huge penis of the fairy [1ftL-G3ft] Plunging into Zach causing the belly to swell and expand already from the size and splitting "Ooh! YSSSSEESE! Tell me more about my new cloak. "Well it's quite sturdy." She said with a violent thrust, Flapping her wings even fiercer than usual !With the wretchedness of the spin. As Zach's pulsating Dick Was being sandwiched by the four gorgeous melons being caressed and rubbed!

"So it will allow me to channel my own stamina Into making me go into a shadowy darkness or do I need to hope for its energies." Zach said quickly whipping her Cock For a quick counter attack with her own impressive blade you could say! Bringing the fairy, Down is her belly stretched and you could hear the popping of her skeleton the stretching of her kite, And the bladders within her body expanding. "Ohh I've already feel like I'm going to explode and you have even unleashed your fluids!" She said as her body was flipped backwards and then flung forward smacking their 2 melons together! As her insect seed started spraying inside Zach's belly already quite brimming! As the belly of the fairy slowly expanded getting bigger and bigger make it look like she was just now three floating orbs attached to to more orbs there's in a giant rod!

"I think that's enough I don't want to accidentally cost you your existence and have emergency election plans for this town." Zach said pulling out leaving the swollen fairy still bloated and round and also slipping out the ferry of her little pot as well. "Of course that's all I can tell you about my little family heirloom, I've never had to experience any unique usage of it it's been my family for a good long time the grayglows have always had fevering history.”

Meanwhile at the church.

Symu, Head priest Mesman, Kate, And studying priest Hor-ros Tricorn. Unlike Symu Her twin did not break her horns as that were scattered across her head a series of spikes and razors giving her a dark headdress. Bigger and more imposing than her as well in more ways than one. Now sitting in the temple they were naked they're booming large breasts, Mesman Was still showing off her elderly chest was still breaming with her powerful magics her milk flowing from her chest constantly we once cleared of any blockages! The elder was possibly in her late 50s or early 60s still having a breast size of a healthy K she was a ginness of course not being a full size one then again maybe her age had caused her to start the shrink rarely do giants live this long being a mere 15 feet tall and most of that being in her torso in arms she was crouching down her dragging her long wrinkly and vany Dick. “Demons of the dreaded domain,Your particular species is of course of the frightful forest deep in the Underworld known for its spikes and blood drinking trees to survive your body naturally can produce these large spikes it's a threatened the trees themselves.”

As the elderly woman left the trail of Milk to a room filled with ancient books and tones. “Sihyll And her crew of Pirates stayed here for a while to pray that they would not be attacked by any wayward vessels or dangerous beasts she often minted some coin for several of her key crew members to lay waste in our chambers Offering for a new life you could say.” She finally had a name, the name of the person, who would have taken her body if something went horribly awry on their journey. “Don't be angry at Si-hy-ll! Sweet child I know you wish to have anger as much as your fears sister Horros! But she grew to accept the torture of knowing that she could have been denied existence but as payment states you are paying for us to commission a life and if you do not die the debt of that life is that one must be living.” She said with a smile and a glee pulling out the spell it was actually more of a curse part of the dread domain the darkness She swirled her hands as the dark aura! Shoving a black orb directly into Symu's chest,Slamming right into the two breasts the giant hand crushing her towards the ground almost out of instinct! Large demonic spikes popped out of her body her horns regrowing with massive might as the giantest flight her hands back.

“Underneath great stress you can call upon ancient armor of her ancestors. The horns on your head aren't just the only spikes that you can create. An you can sacrifice your own armor in order to do more attacks your mother used this very well on our night your spikes feel as glorious as hers once Did the pain I haven't felt it a long time.” She said swirling out as she closed the door. “ You may rest and recover and read to your heart's content these are only the books that lower left Horro will tell you more.”

“Okay also does anyone wish to leave some coin for a possible resurrection or not?” The two girls look back and forth and blatantly shake their heads. “Shame I was kind of looking forward to it OH, well I might ask your two friends instead later. I may even ask the thief although I got a funny feeling she's very notorious for not wanting to chip in.”

4 days later

“Please come by, again dear sister mr on your way journey!” Horror shouted giving a wave with a bit of a glint in her eye of happiness and sadness in the other. “I'm sure it would be a good idea for us to return the same way we left although who knows maybe we might spring for a bigger situation depends on, who is going to be in charge afterwards.” Symu Said with a wave even happiness is also in a bit of sadness in her heart as well Even though she knows full blown that this ancient spell of a Wish changed some things is that she made she is curious did it change the name of her target as well or was it always going to be this feminine sounding after all the resurrection process was still the same at every temple before the grand wish you offered your coin and laid your seed and if you didn't claim your seed by the appointed time you would still have to pay for the life that you've created sending a stipul coined until the life reaches 5 years then you are stuck having to not be able to pay for that life that you'll have but the church will raise it and possibly make it a new nun!

Venuday {Wednesday of the new week}

“Look it's the wagon we can give ourselves some treasure!” Remarked some bandits climbing towards them swinging their blades and throwing grappling hooks they saw the bear and they were still slightly nervous but they've seen weirder things along this road pulling a wagon what could possibly be threatening! Going straight through the chest of one of them, Symu Piercing Dick! As she climbed unto the roof of the wagon her fists getting ready to swirl. “Time to be voracious!” As she grabbed the other two by the head and slammed them so hard their skulls cracked open. “Hey save them bodies we need the loot.” Shouted Zach from the bottom she brought them down as they started cleaning out what was in the pockets of the thieves.

[Quick little info of days of the week:Kelday=Sun, Marday=Mon, Juperday=Tues,Venuday=Wed, Merday=Thursday, Eterday=Friday & Zagday=Satur}

Juperday A stormy rainy day today they were all huddled up inside the cart cold and wet. Prisca Was looking at her bloated belly which was starting to show,With grumblng tones now even if she was to do it at a nunnery and she couldn't do it even if it wasn't for the ritual that would be disallowed now because the God would probably interfere. “So how is exactly the problem with the black mold had occurred across your village? I need to know how to treat it before I can properly disinfect.” Kate inquired. “Let's see could do something with the Liz doing some raids along with the frogs? I hear that they sometimes worship a big dragon ironic I'm giving possibly birth to one.” She said with a slightly a curious tone.

“Oh maybe it's a curse roctected by the dragon being utilized as a fueling of the ritual curse tell me more about the frogs and the Lizga?” Inquired Kate. Miste piping in to give a slight help. “It's Not uncommon for the lizards to mistake Dragons for reptiles we are not we are proud furry reliving mammals, just are fur is very hard and stiff.” Prisca's slightly smiling. “Yes, I can see it stiff. But then why do you come out of eggs? Or is it just like those hounds that we have, I can't remember them off ? The top of my head, paddle hounds that's right!” Miste slightly blushing,And readjusting her robes. “Tell us more about the dragon maybe what type it is?”

Runhild: “I can't describe anything about the dragons iconography the frogs don't wear too much and the lizards really don't.” She said with a bit of a tone. Miste Chipping in and responded “You can just tell me their spells of the frogs that could clue me into what type of dragon?” Pilow,Giving up after using Zach as a giant bean bag chair. “Well the favorite action of Frogs seemed to be teleporting giant turtles was that have fiery spinning bodies and then dropping all the way down to the ground. Also the teleportation is smoky and ashy smelling?” “Swamp Dragon?Maybe or a volcano dragon but you don't live near Volcanoes do you?”

Prisca's “Actually we have a couple of dormant ones, Once in a while we do get a couple of earthquakes actually in the area regularly, I mean we have a decent amount of fire gems to actually warrant some trade with them.” Remarking the Mystic Stones that they mined regularly the Mystic Stones were often nicknamed gems and if refined into a unique powder nicknamed Spice you add spice to a bit of your powerful attacks or you can peer it into your own abilities to give you unique magical attacks like Mimicking fire breath, ice breath etc. Of course using these powdery spices will cause stress to your body with certain combinations you can even do certain things like increase your health temporarily or other unique products.

Zach trying to get,Failing to raise Up her body. “OK we're going to have to make tint or three?”She remarked as she was failing to get up! “All about like the giant cushions it makes this wagon feel soft and comfortable.” Pillow remarked giving a big squeeze of the mountains of flesh! Zach successfully negotiated a campsite Buying time for our heroes. And gathering the information that they needed.

Fellowship arc complete! Next: The mountains of Moonglow Ridge?