

You always seemed like a girl who didn't have to worry about her looks, since you've always been slender and graceful. Little do anyone know, you always had the secret desire to be larger... much larger. One day, you are at the fair when you see a strange stand with an old crone there. The crone says, "I can make your dreams of enlargement come true..."

"Huh?" you say when you hear what the old crone said.

"But it's true. I can make you a large girl, too," the crone smiles, pulling two strange bottles from her desk. One is filled with red pills, and the other is filled with blue pills. "The red pills will make you fat, while the blue pills will make you inflatable," she smiles, holding up the bottles. She looks up at you and says, "You can have one for free, but if you want both, you must do something for me..."