

Rwby AU:Semblance goo

Authors important detailed notes from the beginning: Aside from the dirt. There are several key goals that are differences in this universe then in the regular Rwby universe: 1:Unisex Dominant female presenting. {This is important for family dynamics} 2:Some cleared this tabulations about semblances,And the origins of dust being slightly changed and altered to be more established and being slightly assigned to the idea that this is 'clean' and renewable energy. 3:Making the Faunus Racism more noticeable and detailed! While also still having those who double as passing. {And giving them a more of a building list that makes it more reasonable why they're utilized than just standard racism ploys} These are the three major changes that I want clearly established for the viewer as well As for me! Now for the minor change that it's pretty going to be obvious to help explore things is more love triangles and dagger hedrons and all the other fancy shapes!

Chapter plural log:

Ruby is seen under the Scattered moon overlooking her mother's grave on the side of a cliff. through Rudy's point of view we see the words printed on her mother's grave: “Here lies the remains Of summer rose loving wife of Raven Branwen & Taiyang Long. Mother of Ruby Rose father of Yang Long. Hero of Battle of V1Add. Hi mom,Both of us got except in beacon, I know you would be proud to know that both of your girls are going to your alma mater! And I've inherited more than just your eyes,That they say my semblance is very similar to yours. A pedal transformer. Naturally yangs more like rave physically power and more of an enhancer type I think they said it was explosive Recovery?”

Ruby explained to her mother's grave when she noticed a large looming shadow over her a single Beowulf but it was much larger than she expected she knew that they roam around the night but she wasn't expecting to run into a big one maybe one of the smaller young pack lings but nothing this big “uh oh !” Pouring from her body giving her a thick coating from her Tits & Under her skirt dark black goo pouring all over her body if it wasn't for her already black outfit you would just see it being slowly being shifted from a skirt to being a skin tight suit covered with the cloak think of red you could see tiny little flakes of green though intermingled,Then shifting to bright blood red.

As the giant claw was raised and slammed leaving a smoke petals of bright red at the location as well as the cloak, As the petals reformed above the wolf like grim into Ruby Rose her arm generating her sickle as if she was pulling it from a pocket dimension and slicing back down to the ground, Striking the grims left eye in causing it to move erratically. “OK, big boy why don't you chase after me!” Jiggling her booty and taunting towards the Cliff where her mother's grave was at. The giant wolf dash forward as ruby naturally teleported away just before it could Sink its teeth in her Tiny body! Causing it to naturally go over the Cliff falling to possibly what would be considered a normal creatures doom but as this was the grim they were more durable and larger and able to withstand even a fall from 20 stories is without flinching, Granted the Cliff fall from this one was about 100 so yeah this would hurt a lot but might not kill it, Ruby quickly grabbed her cloak and shifted Crescent rose into its gun sniper form. Then pumping into the barrel a little bit of her own semblance and fired. As there was a big huge crater in the middle of the forest. “OK, that's good now going to pass out now!”As Ruby falls unconscious Yang comes running with Tia Hearing a bit of the commotion.

"Look little lady do you honestly think you can take me on just because you're built more like adult." Yang proceeds to counter with her own coding of deep yellow more like a flaming orange to be honest. "Let's just move this to the ring,If I win, you give me your password to your scroll." Junior turns and says. "And if I win?"

"Well, I guess it's only fair I give you my numbers?"Showing a list of contacts for her information granted three of them were fake but she doesn't know That! "OK, let's go into the ring.As the two walk off towards the boxing ring. "So are you purely A transmuter or are you a mixture?"Yang responds by placing on some of her new armor of her slimy coating. Junior gave some slight chuckle as she's covered in head to toe in her steel coating. "Transmitter/enhancer, I can transform the top layer of my skin into solid steel and enhance the rest of my body's physical strength. What's yours?" She responds. "Enhancer,I can burn off the damage that I receive and convert it into energy. Giving me also a slight healing factor you could say."

Junior immediately goes for a right hook, Yang swerves and dodges it's delivering 3 punches to the gut tiny micro explosions unleashed from the flames impacting solid steel was still painful but not as being hit with a truck!Junior swerves her metallic leg into a slamming knee jab sending Yang straight into the ropes. Coughing up some blood as she swatted away the bruising slowly dissipating already she gives a fiendish smile as she dashes forward with blazing speed Junior's eyes widened as a punch to the face with a loud explosion,Sending right into the ropes and spinning around and around and around with the tie up job as Yang quickly walks over grabs the scroll opens it Up and says.

"Numbers please." Junior mutters the security code,In a short tone as Yang pulls back some of her slime and makes her tits Back from DDD{E} Before she started coding. After entering into the code she sees the list nobody really strikes her eye although she is kind of curious why a Schnee is on the ship. "Pleasure doing business with you,Have a nice day." Junior still tied up responds: "Expect me to pull you up on my license hunting list! Miss long."

Weiss in More rabbit looking form is finishing her final touches on her crystal doppelganger made out of dust she's crafted as well as some dusky stole from her family storage. Currently at B cup And her rod being slightly stiff Her crystal doppelganger is actually more of her normal human looking form she quickly finishes putting on the rest of her disguise eye patch to cover her distinguishing scar she puts a light powdering of blue into her long hair and unveils her ponytail! And opening her closet door and slowly revealing the sidral on the back of her closet door while closing it forming the complete circle, Sprinkling some red and black dust along the lines.

"OK, No more tests time to go." She remarked that she activated the symbol the circle was slowly turning into a portal with a red flame sticking out from its sides she could see the morning night she particularly picked this time frame to be the closest to when she had to sneak onto the train while also giving her the disguise of night. Quickly leaping through the portal as the grassy field that she was on slowly was burning away she quickly created a small platform of her own sigils. "I expected nothing less of a Schnee. Especially for my snowflake.” Standing right behind her was her biological father the woman who raised her the Butler Klein Sieben. Klein's black coat A fur was covered In head to toe of white glimmering body armor making her look like a white knight.

“Let me go and everything will be, OK.” She said brandishing her rapier it's barrel still ringing with small layers of dust in it. “You don't have enough semblance to really handle a fight with me. Just turn around and go back and everything will be OK even gotten things set up Atlas, Jacques Is still working with her campaign things will be OK!” Placing down the sword but Weiss did not give up! With a click of the barrel of her blade she quickly grafted another one of her seals this one's an enhancement room covered in black and then making a quick leap jumping up into the sky the sword was shifted into a giant spear and sent hurtling towards her nearly striking Weiss in her rabbit form, Tearing off her signature jacket. When she landed clearly on the other side of the compound she took a sigh of relief only to notice Klein was very fast even with that heavy White armor now showing flecks of of dark black it was a newly designed SCHnee combat armor.

As she started running faster and faster as the sword slammed right into the back of her jacket her backpack was already gone taking away from the spear she could hear the cracked noise of her back! As she rolled over in the snow. as she hopped back onto her feet, Generating some more ice is to cover up some of her injuries. “Neil my snowflake, You pass and you have the family power and name just hide in the shadows.” Another click of the rapier this time a sigil of flame and fire enhancing its fiery contexture sharing exploding around the area creating smoke and dust. Before another click could be heard, Jumping so high that she could practically fly! But also going through as scheduled that she was still working on making her blend into the night sky. Landing by the train yard and quickly getting on to one of the big transport trains blending in with a whole bunch of other Faunus. As the train was set out for beacon.

Open up with two white Fang clad soldiers morphing into more of their bestial side one showing off more of a bull/Cow With a reddish coat a fur sticking out of parts of the outfit that are designed to shift and stretch. The other one a Black Panther With tiny specks of Brown sticking out of her coat her uniform drenched in some of her slime. The two charging forward at full speed towards the giant train carefully maneuvering themselves as the trains automatic defenses we're slowly gearing up revealing 2 torrents.

“I think we've been showing off a bit too much.” Remarked the Panther, the bull replied “I don't think so, Besides we're a lot faster when we're like this.” “I meant undoing the damages to the schneezes” Dodging some of the blasting fire the energy beams were of a bright golden color. The Panthers generated several copies of itself all of the dark brownish goop. Before dashing and sinking its claws into the side of the metal it was getting harder to do it without enhancing her nails the hard steel of the train was built to withstand even the strongest of grimm's claws. Carefully climbing across while the bull was dealing with the turrets shifting back into more of a humanoid stature sure and pulling out a blade slicing the turrets in two both of them. As the Panther ripped open one of the doors expecting an army of drones instead a collection of crystals than reality it was faunus The entire train car was filled with them.

“Adam, they're transporting us, We need to change the plan!” She shouted trying to get him on the coms, The bull slowly put his hands to his ears ruffling them hearing clearly what this was but the darkness was still within him it's a deep red smile glistened upon his face as he dropped the first explosion causing fear along the entire cable car a large people were about to panic a sweet taste to the grim then fested the area now the big ones were coming. "Then we can blame the attack on the Grimm now instead take the dust and leave if you want to you can select volunteers you're for our next raid."

"But there are people, Adam there us are kind! We don't do this the last three trains were just filled with dust and mac!" Transforming and getting into the train car and trying to calm down everybody a Bluish rabbit showed Up with an eye patch trying to help her. Adam sliced open the train barely missing the rabbit and the Panther but some of the others were not quite so lucky especially one that was missing her arm a golden bear. "We go now!" Slowly shifting more bullish the Panther pulled out her sword the short looking dagger the ribbon wrapping around the bally's leg "Do you feel lucky or not." As the sheave that was containing the blade was point to the stomach. "Fine you save these people, the traitors." Smelling that there were barely any Mac guards on the patrols not enough to actually register as security besides if they were really prisoners there would be at least a few hunters on there payroll. As the bull quickly slipped out of the thing and ran all off running across one of the giant wolves was known as a Beowulf and slice its head cleared off with one swing.

The bluish rabbit turned and said. "Please tell me you're that strong and I think the train's going to go off the rails." The Panther shook her head. "I hadn't lost all my dust earlier, I heard some purple ones I could make a decent gate but that would take time." The Panther ripped off her top squeezed out some purple well from her chest and said. "I'm actually gravity, I just don't do well with it." The bluish rabbit responded by saying "Thank you the names Weiss." The Panther replied "Blake." Before placing enough clones to try to cover some of the train the machines were designed not to ignore friend from foe apparently unless there were other machines so her clones were equally getting gunned down as much as the grim that we're attacking most of them bail wolves And then they saw it a death stalker the giant scorpion grim slash through the trees unleashing its Stinger around torch the tip of the train.

The ones that were seriously injured were being helped by the others that weren't Weiss was busy giving instructions on how to draw the markings there was no way she could actually just use her glyph ability need to get away with this trick her glyphs are small and tiny and really only meant to boost up maybe one or two areas and she can only generate like maybe one yeah time right now the whole reason why she was going to the hunter school was to learn how to make more and she also lost her freaking book that contained all of her recipes which means she's going based off of some of her memories.

The sheave headed specialties with her gamble shroud Blake placed her dagger into it and then pulled it back out along with its ribbon attached pull the sheave up and smiled "Looks like I'm lucky today." Shifting into a quick it shot the sheath double s as a gun but what makes it really classically designed to have the nickname gamble shroud is because the bullets are actually stored in its blade randomly drawing one of the capsules so the dust that she keeps stored in it meanwhile the blade itself gained some of the dust requirements her clones were now given streaks of light and golden as they were covered in lightning the striking bolts!

Roman Torchwick In her button up shirt her jacket ,Dark black bowler hat and her dashing red hair was walking with junior you're in the train yard "Look I hope my supply does not get disrupted again, I've even asked this time to have them be people so it might decrease them getting robbed again so please tell me that they up security on it?" Junior gave a shrug the train was about 3 hours late when all of a sudden a giant glyphed appeared on the wall of a dark purple and the train crashed in there. "Junior fetched the healers this just turned from a cheap job to a... I hope miss fiorella is just going to pay me a lot of money later because if she doesn't your head will be mounted on my wall."Lacing 2 fingers upon her head trying her darndest not to tip her hand.

End of the prologue:

Tell me what you think and would you like to see more I know, I deviated a lot already from the original Rwby universe But who knows maybe I might make this into a regular series at least this will be better than me having to try to do fixing Rwby{I don't envy a certain bird]
